HGC completes acquisition of Macroview, a leading digital technology and IT infrastructure solutions provider

Hong Kong, 22 August 2019 – HGC Global Communications Limited (HGC), a leading Hong Kong and international fixed-line telecom operator and ICT solution provider, headquarter in Hong Kong, operating 22 overseas offices with business across 5 continents, today announced the acquisition of Macroview Telecom Limited (Macroview). Macroview is a leading digital technology solution and managed services provider in Hong Kong, Macau and Mainland China. The joining of Macroview will further accelerate HGC's digital transformation path and create an ICT and digital services leader that will provide enterprise customers with a comprehensive suite of solutions. Through the acquisition, HGC continues its 25-year history of advancing technology in Hong Kong and overseas and highlights its commitment to supporting the next phase of digital evolution.

Macroview is a Hong Kong-based IT infrastructure and digital technology solutions provider that specialises in designing, implementing and managing corporate networking, cybersecurity and multi-cloud solutions. The company was established in Hong Kong in 1991 and has built a reputation for quality and reliability among mid-to-large enterprises and organisations in the financial services, retail, telecommunications, and government sectors. The company has more than 700 digital technology and cybersecurity professionals and has achieved certified partner status with more than 30 leading networking, cybersecurity, and cloud vendors, including Cisco, NetApp, F5, VMware, RedHat, Splunk, CyberArk, Palo Alto Networks, Check Point and Fortinet.

The exercise of combining HGC's diverse local and international business portfolio with Macroview's market-leading capabilities in providing digital technology solutions will accelerate HGC group as the IT partner of choice for customers who expect a seamless, multipoint-to-multipoint set of IT infrastructure solutions and services. By leveraging the strengths of the two organisations and an ecosystem of strategic business partners, HGC and Macroview will bring to the market a portfolio of innovative digital solutions and managed digital services that can be scaled to serve around the world including the Greater Bay Area.

Mr. Andrew Kwok, CEO of HGC said, "The joining of Macroview will accelerate the transformation of the HGC group into a leading ICT solution provider in the market. Both HGC and Macroview are committed to maintain and expand our relationships with all of our existing business partners to deliver technology solutions to our customers. Going forward, we will look for further expansion opportunities through organic growth, M&A and strategic partnerships to enhance our comprehensive suite of ICT solutions, extend our global presence, and reinforce our leading position in different regions.

Mr. Victor Share, CEO of Macroview said, "We have evolved over 28 years from a local IT systems integration company into a leader in designing and implementing comprehensive networking, cybersecurity, and multi-cloud solutions that enable our customers' digital transformations. Going forward we will continue to be the trusted digital technology solution partner for our customers while leveraging HGC's networks, digital platforms and global reach to expand our managed digital services capabilities which will ultimately benefit our customers and employees as we become a leading digital technology solution and managed services provider in the region."

HGC announces completion of acquisition of Macroview at a press conference.
